Alfa Laval revolutionizes tank cleaning for the hygienic fluid handling industries

With the new Alfa Laval PlusClean® tank cleaning nozzle, the company continues to bring innovative products to the market. The nozzle sets a new standard for the food, dairy, beverage, pharmaceutical, home and personal care industries. Its unprecedented 100 percent tank cleaning coverage and up to 80 percent savings in water and cleaning media, provides a more sustainable and competitive alternative to traditional cleaning methods.

The unique design of the new Alfa Laval nozzle delivers 100 percent cleaning coverage in shadow areas that other nozzles miss. In addition, there's no risk of contamination which enables unmatched performance, well-suited for these demanding industries.

"This innovative new product improves process efficiency, safety and product quality," says Nish Patel, President of the Food & Water Division. "It saves on water and cleaning media, which not only gives our customers a competitive advantage but also enables more responsible use of our natural resources. It's a win-win for the industry and for society."

Did you know... Alfa Laval launches approximately 100 products annually, which is the equivalent of around two products per week?
