Alfa Laval wins SEK 55 million refinery order

Alfa Laval – a world leader in heat transfer, centrifugal separation and fluid handling – has won an order to supply welded heat exchangers to a refinery in the Middle East. The order has a value of approximately SEK 55 million. It is booked in the Welded Heat Exchangers business unit of the Energy Division, with deliveries scheduled for 2018.

The Alfa Laval OLMI heat exchangers will be used for cooling applications in different process steps in the refinery.

“I am very pleased to announce this large order for our welded heat exchangers,” says Susanne Pahlén Åklundh, President of the Energy Division. “The OLMI heat exchanger is one of the energy-efficient products in our extensive portfolio - highly suitable for the demanding applications in the refinery and petrochemical industries.”
